

FC SERIES

FC160HP

The Gulmay FC Series of high-voltage generators is available in either a standard 640W or higher power 1000W option. FC series generators are the ideal power supply when using traditional and high power series x-ray tubes for a variety of imaging techniques including analogue real-time imaging, digital flat panel imaging and linear imaging detectors. Used extensively in tyre inspection applications, the FC series is also ideal for use in food inspection, casting and welded assemblies, small parcel security, and a wide range of real-time NDT inspection applications.

The FC series incorporates an accurate feedback system that constantly monitors the x-ray tube mA and kV to ensure precise and stable output. The generator status is monitored by the internal electronics to maintain safe and reliable operation. The oil-filled high-voltage system provides greater thermal dissipation than resin-filled designs, increasing reliability and ensuring both a 100% duty cycle and full field serviceability.
